Help out at a support group for people with Parkinson's disease

Description

Parkinson's disease is a serious neurological condition affecting around 145,000 people in the UK. A local support group covering the Bishops Stortford area offers friendship and support to people living with Parkinson's and their families and friends.

A group helper is needed to work with others to:

- welcome new people when they come along to activities for the first time
- promote the group within the local community
- help setting up and clearing up after group meetings
- assist at events, which may include serving refreshments, handling registrations and raffles
- contribute ideas for fundraising, activities and potential speakers.
